

Give the gift of generosity

Wow Students, a Blaine County nonprofit, introduces Generosity Gift Certificates in time for the holiday giving season. Available exclusively on wow-students.org, the cards are designed to encourage philanthropic practices by local youth. The giver can determine the amount, then the receiver determines to which Blaine County nonprofit they will give. This is not only a great way to experience generosity, but also to learn about the many nonprofit organizations in the community.

"We are always looking for fresh ways to spread and teach generosity to the younger generation," Wow-Students founder Morley Golden said. "We believe that allowing them to scan through and select an organization they are interested in will not only foster generosity, but hopefully encourage an interest in and an understanding of the community around them."
